The DIMMER VIEW

Many Promise; Few Perform

The unqualified success of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce installation banquet recently, and the acquisition of teevee star Desi Arnaz to serve as marshal of the Old Time Days Parade—plus some other hitherto unacknowledged accomplishments by several local unpaid workers—is testimony that our civic events are becoming "big time."

Elsewhere in these columns are details of Arnaz' appearance in Lemon Grove's annual parade on May 14. Usually the marshal is guest of honor at the OTD Kick-off Dinner to be held early in May. So we'll have that to look forward to, also.

Bob Russell is the immediate past president of the chamber, Jim Dorman is immediate past president of the OTD Association, and Bob Mastny is parade chairman, past and present. All three of these men have served admirably. But it is a San Francisco "limy" and 12-year resident of Lemon Grove who should get a pat on the back for an almost unbelievable performance. The "limy" is George Tonner.

Tonner is superintendent of the repair estimating department at National Steel and Shipbuilding Corp. with a team of four others.

It was he who got Arnaz to agree—in writing—that he would serve in the parade. But this is about Tonner.

Tonner is about as abrasive as Howard Cosell—and about as knowledgeable. In small communities where volunteers often make big promises and produce almost nothing, Tonner is an exception. He makes big promises and produces. Because he promises more than most people believe possible, he also creates a reaction. One thing about Tonner. You either like him or not. You aren't neutral very long.

His civic activity started a couple of years ago when the community Fourth of July picnic needed some guidance. Tonner stepped in just before the event and pulled it together. The next year he was in charge from the beginning and it was a social, patriotic and financial success.

He tells of his father who often admonished him to do nothing he didn't intend to finish and to do as good as possible whatever he undertook. That is his philosophy today.

Last year when they were seeking funds for bleachers for the parade, Tonner said, "I'll get them for you—free." He did too. He also got radio personality Art Way to serve as parade marshal and to perform at the Kick-off dinner. He also appeared on radio and teevee to publicize the events.

It should be noted that Bob Mastny was parade chairman and he did an outstanding job of organizing the parade proper. He is chairman again this year—and it will be bigger and better than ever.

This year, as dinner chairman for the Chamber's recent installation, Tonner brought in Bob Mills, a KOGO teevee personality, and Jim Hill, the Chargers great free safety. He had a mariachi group and a Spanish guitarist. The dinner itself brought a great number of compliments; both for its quality, its quantity as well as for its promptness in beginning and finishing. And it made money for the chamber, too.

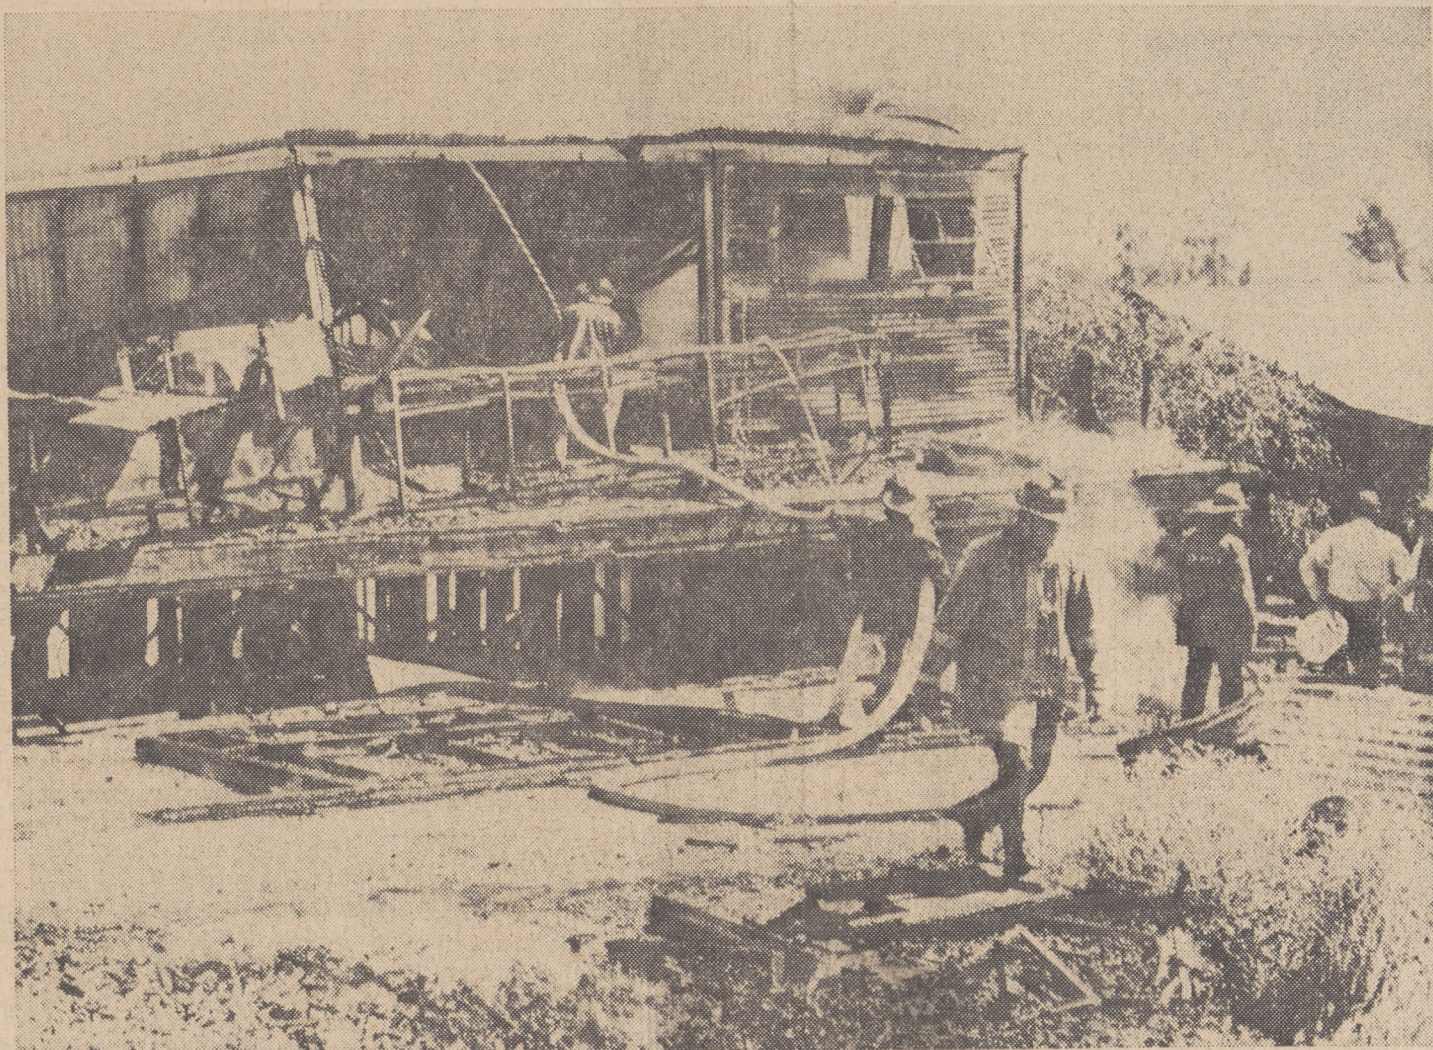

The OTD Kick-off dinner will undoubtedly be equally successful. At least, Tonner said it would.

He was born in San Francisco in 1921 but as a youngster went to England where he was in the circus, amusement park and carnival business with his father and uncle. They had more than a dozen operations in seaside communities on the west and south coasts of England. His father passed and Tonner returned to the United States settling in San Diego. A few years ago his uncle died and left no will. The circus operation is in probate in England and once the estate is settled, Tonner will probably have to take them over as the owner.

While in England, as a youth, he met a pretty little girl in Clethops and married her. It is interesting that Jim Dorman's wife is from the same town.

There are many unsung heroes and many unnoticed volunteers in every community. Tonner is not altogether unnoticed because he is quick to admit that he does some of these things because he can do them better than anyone else. And he does.

Abrasive? Usually. Limy? Hear him talk. Able? You better believe it! And let the first guy who says to the contrary prove he can do half as well.

PACKING SHED DESTROYED — Lemon Grove firemen are seen as they make sure that the last spark is out after a Friday morning blaze in a vegetable packing shed at the east end of Alton dr. in Spring Valley. The shed was completely destroyed, but was not in use at the time of the fire, having been sold recently by longtime owner Harry Griffen. (Mark Coffin photo)

The new employee, who speaks the language fluently, will spend about half of her working hours at the library and her remaining time visiting local Spanish-speaking families, explaining what programs the library offers.

Other duties which she will perform include conducting story hours in Spanish for area youngsters.

Supervisors Kill Own Pay Hike —After 57,000 Voters Object

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors have rescinded their pay raise of Feb. 1 and have accepted the petition of 57,000 signatures as a valid call for a referendum.

Then they ran up and down the pay scales trying unsuccessfully to reach agreement on what their salaries should be.

This subject was then dropped and the vague suggestion was left that the board would set a salary at something near the pay of state legislators.

That would be $19,200 this year, but could easily be raised during this session.

County Counsel Robert Berry was directed to prepare an ordinance rescinding the pay raise which could have brought the board pay to $30,000 a year by 1976.

He will also prepare an ordinance to keep the level at the present $16,000.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Chile" is a household word in most Spanish-speaking communities. It means pepper. There is no writing change for the word when it is converted to English. In some places the spelling may vary from "chili" to "chile" in both Spanish and English.

We are probably more familiar with the word "chile" in the expression "chile con carne" which means "chile with meat." Correct pronunciation of this phrase in phonetic form would approximate "CHEE-leh kohn KAH-neh."

"Chile ancho" is a descriptive form for "wide chile." Also "Chile largo" (long chile) is very popular. Both "chile ancho" and "chile largo" are used for making the delicious piquant chile sauces that have appeared on tables throughout Mexico and Central America.

"Chiles poblanos" are used for making the ever popular "chile relleno" (refilled chile). There is a slight trick to proper pronunciation of "relleno." If we will remember to treat the double "l" in same manner as the English letter "y" we will more properly say "reh-YEH-noh." "Poblano" is taken from the word "pueblo" which means "village." Thus, "chile poblano" suggests "chile from the village."

"Chile jalapeno" (Jalapa chile) is a delight for many "Norteamericanos" (North Americans). This is a moderate size chile which may be cured and soaked in a vinegar jar. The Spanish letter "j" suggests an English "h" sound for us as we say "hah-ah-PEHN-yohs" for "jalapenos." This special type of chile is a constant reminder, perhaps an occasional piquant reminder, of the beautiful state of their origin, Jalapa, Mexico.

"Chile serrano" is another popular chile. "Serrano" is a name which suggests "from the mountain" which was taken from "sierra" (mountain). So, of course, "Chiles serranos" are "Chiles from the mountain." Origin of the word "chile," even though used in Spanish and English alike, is taken from the early Nahuatl Indian languages which suggests that the name "chile" may be several thousands of years old.

You may enjoy increasing your Spanish-speaking potentials by practicing the following phrases. A recorded voice will assist you, when ever you wish, simply by dialing 276-2762. Just listen and repeat.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:
Say "Que son?" (keh sohn) for "What are they?"
Say "Son chiles rellenos." (sohn CHEE-lehs reh-YEH-nohs) for "They are refilled chiles."
Say "Son chiles jalapenos?"

"PLAY DAY" — The field was filled recently at Spring Valley Junior High when the boys from all four La Mesa-Spring Valley School District junior highs came together for a "play day." The day, an annual event, involved wrestling matches in all weight classes, basketball and soccer. Fourteen high school seniors volunteered their services in refereeing matches. Competition is "low key" with the emphasis on skill and pleasure, rather than winning. Coaches find this day to be a motivating factor for students in pursuit of their regular physical education classes.

Radio Controlled Boats Are Regatta Feature

Sailboats on Mission Bay are nothing new, but dozens of model yachts cruising around the model yacht basin under radio control could be a different twist.

San Diego Argonauts Radio Controlled Model Boat Club and Mission Bay Associates will be co-sponsoring the annual Spring Sail Regatta on April 22 and 23 at the model yacht basin near Vacation Village Hotel on West Vacation Isle.

35 to 40 model sailboats — ranging up to six feet in actual length — are expected to compete in the regatta.

The first race is scheduled for 10:30 Saturday and 10 Sunday. The top three boats in each class will receive trophies, and each skipper will receive an entry ribbon. There is no entry fee for contestants and no admission charge for spectators.

MARBLE-EATING COMPUTER — Highlands Elementary School teacher Harry Eng's creativity and ingenuity have brought both pleasure and learning to his fourth-grade students. Eng designed and constructed a computer which the students have named "The Marble-Eating Computer." What does it do? First of all, it provides for a student to answer 10 true or false questions per program. For each answer, a student inserts a marble in the "T" or "F" slot. There are five multiple choice questions with four choices for each question. The marbles are stored in the machine. At the end of the test, a student pulls a lever and the marbles roll to the correct slot at the bottom of the machine. The student then checks to see where he was wrong. The students learn by making their own tests, by programming their test, by testing other students, and by taking tests made by the teacher.

Jug Band Due At Grossmont

The Associated Students of Grossmont College will present one of the country's foremost backyard blues and jug bands when the "Sorry Muthas" perform at 8 p.m., Saturday, in the student center.

The four-man, one-woman group displays unusual versatility because of their individual backgrounds and collective instrumentation.

Playing such instruments as the pedal steel guitar, dobro guitar, mandolin, banjo, fiddle, harmonica and jug as well as both the six and twelve-string guitar, "Sorry Muthas" has a reputation throughout the middle west and east as fine musicians.

Their repertoire includes down home, Ma Rainey and Leadbelly blues, country and western and juband music that features the vocalizing of "Mama Jude," Judy Larson.

The public is invited to hear an evening of unamplified "Muthamusic" that includes the use of hand horns, kazooes, spoons and washtubs to complement the more orthodox instruments. The price of admission is $1 with tickets available at the door.

CLEANUP — Encanto youngsters, including boy and girl scouts as well as those interested in ecology, were on hand recently for a clean-up of the Broadway and Klauber area of Encanto. Science-Fiction Writer is Speaker For Sunday Forum

Ray Bradbury, one of the world's leading science-fiction writers, will be the fourth speaker Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the fifth annual Forum of the Foothills lecture series.

For 20 years, Bradbury has devised time-capsules for journeys to man's remotest past and future in such classic novels as "The Illustrated Man," "The Martian Chronicles," and "Fahrenheit 451." But he has become popular as a lecturer on the subject of what he sees here on earth, and "The Challenge of the Space Age" will be his topic in the Grossmont College gymnasium Sunday.

Following Bradbury as the final 1972 Forum speaker will be psychiatrist-educator William Glasser, April 16. Previous speakers this year have been S. I. Hayawaka, Betty Furness, and Michael Waters. A question and answer session follows each lecture.

The Forum is a non-profit organization supported primarily by the sale of season tickets. Tickets may be purchased at the door and additional ticket information may be obtained by calling 466-4712.

Two-Man Theatre Due At Grossmont

"The New Theatre," a two-man traveling theatre featuring New York Actors Studio members Paul E. Richards and Gerald Hiken, will be presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services at 8 p.m., April 14, in the student center.

After several successful years appearing in over 30 theatre productions and hundreds of television plays and films, Richards and Hiken acted and taught at the Stanford University Repertory Theatre. As "TNT" they have performed over 100 times coast to coast, from mountain tops to living rooms.

Richards, the more "active" actor of the two, usually performs the more showy roles. Hiken provides contrast with an off-hand and unelaborated presentation.

The public is invited to see unusual theatre performed by two unusual actors. There is no charge for admission.

Gulls Win Playoff Berth; Frays to Decide Third Place

SALT LAKE CITY — The San Diego Gulls, assured of a berth in the Western Hockey League's Lester Patrick Cup playoffs for the fifth straight season, will start a last ditch effort to regain third place in the standings when they battle the Salt Lake Golden Eagles here tomorrow night.

The Gulls will return home to finish regular season play against the Phoenix Roadrunners at the Sports Arena on Saturday night. Faceoff for the final game will be 8 p.m.

San Diego carried a four-game losing streak into last night's game in Denver. Three losses last week by the Gulls eliminated them from contention from second place and dropped them from third to fourth.

The Salt Lake Golden Eagles lost five points during last week's action to eliminate themselves from playoff contention and assure the Gulls a spot in the post-season chase for the Patrick Cup.

Entering this week's action, the Gulls still had a chance for third spot. They trailed Portland by three points, with each team having three games to play. The Buckaroos hosted Seattle Wednesday night, and travel to Seattle to close out the season with games tomorrow and Saturday night.

Portland needs a total of four points gained by themselves or lost by the Gulls to nail down third spot.

A third place finish would put the Gulls into the playoffs against the Phoenix Roadrunners, while a fourth place finish would match the Gulls against the league champion Denver Spurs in the opening round of the playoffs.

The Gulls went into last night's game against Denver with a 5-5-3 seasonal record, while they trail 4-9-2 in their series against Phoenix with one game to go.

Saturday's game against Phoenix will be the Gulls' annual Awards Night, where awards will be presented to outstanding performers from the season. There will be awards for the leading scorer and leading goal scorer, as well as the Rookie of the Year, the Sandy Awards to the forward and defenseman who best exemplify the spirit, determination and hustle of the Gulls, and the Most Valuable Player award, which is accompanied by a solid gold watch.

'Soxers Set Opening Day

The eighth season of Bobby Sox Softball in Spring Valley will get underway Saturday when over two hundred girls gather at 10 a.m. for opening ceremonies.

The first game will start at 11 a.m. between two major teams, made up of girls 12 through 15. Three more major games will be played during the day.

Two minor games will also be played on the adjoining field. The minors are made up of girls 9 to 12.

The Spring Valley Bobby Sox softball field is located at Bancroft Elementary School at the corner of Taylor and Central st. in Spring Valley.

Walter Hagen won the U.S.A. Open Championships in 1914 and 1919.

Mt. Miguel Splits Pair In Lions Tournament Action

By Paul Stark

Mt. Miguel High School's baseball team, still suffering from poor fielding, snapped a five game losing streak in the opening round of last week's Lions Tournament with a 1-0 decision over the Morse Tigers.

Bob Pannell, who has been victimized by errors all season, snapped a personal two-game losing string by fanning nine Tigers enroute to the five-hit shutout.

Mt. Miguel hitting, which has been less than outstanding, came through in the game when Pannell hit a 2-0 pitch to right center for a triple in the sixth frame. He scored later on a solid single to left off the bat of Phil Williamson.

Morse threatened twice in the game, but both times Pannell got out of trouble with strike-outs.

In the opening inning, Morse batter Mark Evans belted a two-out double to right field. Pannell, slightly shaken after the hit, walked the next two batters to fill the bases before striking out

Steve Garrett.

In the sixth inning, an error and a single put two men on base with no outs, but Pannell struck out three straight batters to retire the side. Gary Dudley, Steve Garrett, and Rod Macevaine were the KO victims.

In the second round of the tourney, Mt. Miguel bats faltered again, and poor fielding allowed the Clairemont Chiefs to eliminate the local team, 3-0.

Steve Long, who pitched a beautiful three-hit game for the Matadors, was victimized in the fourth and fifth innings by errors.

Local Mechanics Pass Garage Owners Exam

At a recent regular monthly meeting of the Independent Garage Owners Association of San Diego, three local mechanics were awarded certificates for their successful completion of the IGO written and practical Master Mechanic Examination.

John Skinner, of Rite Time Auto Repair in Spring Valley, John Gonzales, of Johnny's Garage in Spring Valley, and Jim Jensen, of Jensen's Auto Performance Center in Lem-

John Skinner

on Grove, were among the first mechanics in the county to pass the examination.

John Gonzales

The test, which was developed in Chicago by the national IGO office, was recently approved by the State of California. It is the first test of its kind to be used by garage owners.

Jim Jensen

The test may later become mandatory for auto mechanics in the state if the legislature passes a proposed certification law for mechanics.

New certification classes are planned for April, and any auto mechanic with a minimum of four years of experience in the trade may qualify for courses. For further information, phone IGO president Ed Coffey, at 291-9594.

RECRUITERS — In an effort to enroll more students of minority groups residing in the Grossmont Community College District, Grossmont College dean of guidance services Laurence E. Coons and the college counseling staff have initiated a recruiting program that uses former district high school students, now attending Grossmont College, as recruiters. The student recruiters, most of whom are members of minority groups, are especially selected and undergo a rigorous orientation and training program developed by college counselors Mrs. Adele Chandler and Mrs. Virginia Brightenberg. After completing the orientation and training program the student recruiters are assigned to a team that will visit one of the high schools in the Grossmont Union High School District, usually the school that the recruiter attended. In photo, Julian Valdez, left, of Spring Valley, Roberto Cesena, of Lemon Grove, and Rosie Sison, of Spring Valley, tell Helix High School students of the advantages in attending Grossmont College.

'Quality of Life Goals' To Be Set Here by CPO

Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) has set two east county meetings on goal objectives within the next 45 days.

The meetings will be at Grossmont High School on April 27 and May 16, 7:30-10:30 p.m.

CPO, which supplants the SANCOC concept (San Diego Council of Governments) will seek to establish goals in such areas as human resources, growth and economy, governmental services, educational services, housing, transportation, form, parks, and environment.

It is listed as "A program for concerned citizens who wish to work together to preserve and improve the quality of life in the San Diego region. Goals Program Coordinator Walter J. Jaconski said that CPO would not interfere with the various community planning association which are also seeking goals.

"We hope we will be invited to share in studies of problems presently faced by planning associations," he said.

Lemon Grove has a program well along the way. Spring Valley is nearing the approval stage with a similar association. Such groups become official only after county supervisors breathe life into it with a vote of approval.

"CPO will be co-operative and supportive," Jaconski said. "We will relate regional goals to local problems and local issues."

"Our first objective for the residents of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley is to attract people already involved in community projects.

"These people are those who are already involved in chambers of commerce work, service clubs, and planning associations. The key to our programs is communication with the public. It is important that residents of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley be represented at the April and May meetings.

He said goals and objectives will be revised after each meeting to reflect public attitudes. Local governments and other agencies will then be urged to adopt these determinations.

CPO is presently funded by federal county grants.

Eventually its financial support will come from a "fraction of a percentage of sales tax." A bill is being run through State Legislature at present to implement this determination.

The bill is sponsored by Assemblyman Wadde Deddeh.

Brown Sets Fund-Raiser

Supporters of Dick Brown, candidate for County Supervisor District 2, will gather at a fund raising dinner, tonight. A no-host social hour at 7 p.m. will precede dinner at 8 p.m. The affair will be held at the Convention Center of Town and Country Hotel.

"Because of certain self-imposed handicaps which Dick has placed upon himself for the conduct of this campaign, the success of this dinner is vital," said Lee Knutson, dinner chairman.

Knutson went on to explain that not more than $500 will be accepted from anyone who regularly does business with the County, or who is directly regulated by the County. A watchdog committee will review all contributions and list everyone who gives $5 or more, by name and amount.

A medium size egg has 75 to 80 calories.

Broomsticks for Cue Sticks Make Pool Playing Tough

They use broomsticks for pool cues — but things are looking up.

That's because they're catching up on their bills at the Lemon Grove Youth Center.

Some of the money used to pay bills — such as liability insurance, payroll, and employment taxes.

But there isn't enough yet to start re-equipping the place.

"It seems a shame that the youngsters don't have cue sticks, or even a complete set of pool balls — or even a ball rack when there must be a dozen or more pool sets in area homes where youngsters have outgrown them," said one person who learned about the need.

The Youth Center, on School Lane, is the Friday and Saturday centering place for troubled young teenagers. They meet there 3-10 on Fridays 10-10 on Saturdays to indulge in light athletics, craft work, listen to radio and hi-fi or watch teevee. Mostly they sit around and talk — talk that seems to carry them over the troublesome approaching adulthood years.

Some have been in trouble. Others are seeking trouble. Some who have been in trouble come back. Most of these try to give sound guidance to the others. The "communication gap" that is said to exist between youngsters and adults does not exist between youngsters.

Each seems to understand the others' troubles and they talk about it. For whatever reason, youngsters can discuss these troubles among themselves but most cannot do so with the "establishment." The latter is home and school: cops and probation officer. As one of the sponsors of the Center said: "The Center offers an alternative to whatever they find congregating on street corners."

There is mild but continuous guidance from Center Director Dale Wood and his staff of college student counselors. "They seem to get hold of themselves after coming here a few weeks," Wood said.

One of the money-raising projects is the subscription campaign to this newspaper. For every new subscription obtained by independent salespersons, 50 cents is given to the Youth Center Association. If one of the youngsters at the Center gets a subscriber $2.50 is given to the Center... plus $2 that an anonymous donor said he'd match on each such subscription.

Youngsters sold two subscription during the week and by an arrangement with an anonymous donor who is doubling the income on youngsters' sales, $8 was given to Dale Woods Saturday. It was handed to him while he was surrounded by kids trying to figure a way to replace a basketball net which had disintegrated that morning. No question about where that money went!

The benefit of the subscription campaign isn't so much the money raised from sales as it is the aid that comes obliquely. For example, a donor last week gave $20 and promised to send in $10 every month. A few more such commitments would assure the Center's success. Along that line, it is hoped that an owner of an old pool table as mentioned earlier in this column, will get a similarly generous impulse.

Van Says Aid Due KPBS Television

WASHINGTON — Legislation prepared by a House subcommittee would more than double federal funding for KPBS (Channel 15), San Diego's only non-commercial television station, says Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

The measure would increase both federal funding and local stations' share of that money. "In San Diego," said Van Deerlin, "the greater federal support could well mean a revival of public affairs programming and other initiatives by KPBS."

Bi-partisan agreement on the shape of the bill was reached last week by the Commerce Subcommittee on Communications. Van Deerlin, a former radio and television newsmen, is ranking majority member of the subcommittee.

John D. Summerfield, KPBS general manager, told Van Deerlin that the subcommittee formula would increase this station's community service grant entitlement from $33,075 to about $80,000.

KPBS-TV at one time scheduled four hours of public service-type programming a week but now it's down to a half-hour. Public affairs and other local programming have suffered because of both a reduction in state support and the death of a major private contributor.

"KPBS and other public stations need the chance to develop innovative local programming that will complement the network services provided by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting," Van Deerlin said. "But they won't have this opportunity without money."

He noted that San Diego's educational outlet has been more successful than many other in attracting private subscriptions among viewers willing to help bear the expense of an alternative program source, unfettered by commercialism.
